Why Buy Alaska Grown Forest Products?

Sustainability

Forest products from outside of Alaska must be transported thousands of miles, using non-renewable natural resources. Imported forest products are often harvested unsustainably and in a way that harms the environment.

Support Local Economy

Buying locally keeps dollars in the state and creates local jobs. Supporting local businesses also promotes better customer service and local knowledge.

High Quality Product

Trees, shrubs, and plants grown in Alaska are more adapted to the climate and have better health and survivability than imported plants.

Protect The Environment

Insect pests, invasive weeds, and diseases can all be imported through forest products from non-local sources.
